Kasten Announces Rushing Regulation For Next Semester

Roger Kasten, vice-president of Interfraternity Council, has announced that informal fraternity rushing period was completed Jan. 2, 1955. There will be no rushing performed until the first class day of the second semester, Wednesday, Feb. 2. After this date an intermediate rushing period will start. This period will be governed in the same manner as the informal rush period that allowed rushers to eat at the fraternity houses and accept invitations to week-end parties within the hours specified on the official rushing rules.

Formal rushing will begin on a date to be set by the Interfraternity Council, which will be immediately after final grades are available, and an eligibility list is compiled.

Upperclassmen, to be eligible for rushing, must register their name in the Dean of Men's office within the first three class days of the second semester.

Kasten also said, "It is the desire of Interfraternity Council to give freshmen, through this plan, an opportunity to both have time to prepare for final examinations, and ample time to become acquainted with the fraternities." He stressed that rules must be followed because IFC has placed much responsibility on freshmen, and reported violations will result in the loss of pledging privileges.

Rushing Info Given By Panhel Council

Rushing orientation for freshman and upper class women, sponsored by Panhellenic Council, will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 11 in the Rec Hall, according to Carol Lee, chairman.

This is to be the first of two such programs to be presented by Panhel to explain what takes place during rushing and the advantages of sorority life.

Participating in Tuesday's program will be members of Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Phi, and Alpha Xi Delta sororities.

Seven Student Convocations Listed For Next Semester

Kreischer Explains December Explosion

The cause of the explosion Dec. 6 which demolished the northeast end of the University Graphic Arts Bldg. has been determined, Ervin J. Kreischer, University business manager, has stated.

According to investigations, the explosion was caused by the accumulation of unburned gases in the fire box of the boiler. Although it was thought that there were two explosions; the first caused by the unburned gases, and the second an explosion of hot steam and water, the investigation indicated that only one explosion took place.

The University has no insurance on the building and will receive funds from the State Emergency Board, set up for such emergencies.

The University will first receive money for the temporary repair of the building, and later, money to restore it as it was before the explosion. The building will be repaired only and not improved, except for some minor changes. It is expected to be completely repaired by spring.

357 Korean Veterans Swell BG Enrollment, 15 WW II Men Remain

Within two years, the University will probably lose the last of the World War II veterans attending under the old GI Bill, with the possible exception of a small number of graduate students, according to statistics released by Ralph H. Geer, veterans' counselor.

From a high number of 1898 veterans in the fall of 1948, today only 15 remain who are receiving a training allowance under Public Law 346 (the old GI Bill). Of these, two are juniors, five seniors, and the rest graduate students.

And as these men move out, another group is arriving to take their place—the Korean veterans attending under the new GI Bill, Public Law 550. From 40 students in the Fall of 1952, the first year of the Korean GI Bill, the number on campus now has swelled to 357.

Most of the Korean vets are enrolled in the College of Business Administration, with College of Education coming in second.

Fifteen veterans are attending under Public Law 16 for the disabled.

Seven student assemblies have been scheduled for the second semester, according to President Ralph W. McDonald.

It is felt that a smaller number will be sufficient next semester for two reasons. The convocations the first semester have covered a great deal of important information about University life and developments, and the general program of campus activities is heavier during the second semester.

The student body was praised by President McDonald for its excellent response to the assemblies, by their demonstration of a lively interest in the programs of the University.

Because of the size of attendance the assemblies for freshmen and for students registered in the College of Education will be held in the Men's Gymnasium. All other assemblies will be held in Main Auditorium.

According to the following schedule, each student in the University will attend two assemblies. The schedule is Feb. 10, all students in the College of Liberal Arts; Feb. 17, all students in the College of Business Administration; March 10, all students in the College of Education; March 17, members of the freshman class; April 21, members of the sophomore class; April 28, members of the junior class; and May 5, members of the senior class.

'Out Of Frying Pan' Next Production; Cast, Crew Named

"Out of the Frying Pan," a comedy to be presented by the members of Workshop Players Jan. 12 through 15, is now in rehearsal, according to James E. Liedtke, director.

Verging on the farcical, "Out of the Frying Pan" is a light story concerning six stage-struck youngsters, three boys and three girls, who share a New York apartment above a famous Broadway producer, with hopes of obtaining parts in his new show. An unusual effect is achieved in the second act, when a play is going on within a play.

The cast includes Douglas Cotner, Lee Foster, Kay Davis, William Schaefer, Cindy Dicken, Phyllis O'Reilly, LaVern Johnson, Shirley Klotz, Larry McWilliams, Jim Rodgers, Jerry Craig, and Tom Edie.

Crews will consist of: stage, Donald Tyree; props, Mary Carter, Kay Davis, Donald Stewart, Ruth Hutchinson, Carolyn McLeese, Jean Rutherford, Jean Engelhardt, and Ruth Campbell; lights, Karl Lehrer, Lois Gorman, and Ronald Fessler; sound, Jerald Fagin; costumes, Connie Conner, Faith Lilly, Barbara Cornette, Bobbie Keyse, and Jackie Reaver; make-up, Nancy Patton and Lois Taraschke. Robert Stager is technical director. Cast and crew combined will number about 50 persons.

A Phi O To Initiate 17 Men Tomorrow

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will hold initiation ceremonies for 17 pledges tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Practical Arts Bldg.

A dinner for the new members at the Women's Club will follow the ceremonies. Dr. Emerson C. Shuck, dean of the Graduate School, will be the speaker.

The pledges who will be introduced by Alpha Phi Omega President Harry Thal, are: Paul Bennett, David Biechele, Robert Bowman, Phil Brooks, Donald Browder, William Carmany, Francis Cook, James Glantz, Paul Heiberger, Keith Kramer, LaDoy Little, Alvin Moebus, Larry Pete, Sheldon Rabb, Arthur Radwin, Ronald Shoemaker and Donald Snyder.

The collection for the drive amounted to $750, and the check was given Mr. Bock on Christmas Eve. The money has been used to make a down payment on an automobile with hand-operated controls.

Mr. Hautau, who is employed by the Michigan Department of Conservation, is an authority on conservation in this locality, and illustrated his talk with references to local oil and gas pools.

It emphasizes periodic chest x-rays, and discusses lung cancer.

Prof Hides In Oven From Enemy

By DONALD HANNAH

After hiding in the oven of a bakery in Japanese-held Manila for five days, the man finally managed to escape and re-joined his own detachment in time for the final attack on the stronghold of Manila.

This is not an excerpt from a war novel, but an experience of Dr. O. Norman Simpkins, an instructor in the department of sociology. Dr. Simpkins spent 1942 to 1946 attached to the Pictorial Service of the Signal Corps.

Covers Conferences

His first big assignment was covering the Quebec Conference between the late president Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. Dr. Simpkins related that the only problems connected with this assignment, besides having to have six different passes to get into the conference room, was trying to figure out a way of cutting the glare from bald heads, and trying to get a photograph of Churchill without his cigar.

After his work at this conference, he was assigned to cover the Roosevelt Conference at Tehran and Cairo. He was then transferred red to the Pacific theater in time to cover the battle of New Guinea. He was also on hand to photograph the battle of Leyte and the Luzon landing.

Seeks Refuge

After these two landings, he joined the division attempting to take Manila. It was here that he was cut off and had to seek refuge in the oven of a bakery. He re-joined the division in time to be in on the final push and the capture of Manila. He was wounded by a piece of shrapnel from a Japanese knee mortar during this operation and had to be hospitalized. He was out of the hospital in time to photograph the release of the prisoners who had been in on the infamous death march.

He then parachuted into Corregidor with the first wave of troops and stayed with them until Corregidor had been liberated.

After a short rest in Australia, Dr. Simpkins parachuted in to join a band of Filipino guerrillas who had never surrendered to the Japanese. They were carrying on hit-and-run missions against the Japanese throughout the Philippine Islands.

The Filipinos, a very dedicated group of fighting men, held religious and magical rituals before beginning a mission against the Japanese. This, Dr. Simpkins states, was what first aroused his interest in anthropology.

Shot By Sniper

While on one of the raids with the guerrillas, Dr. Simpkins again qualified for the Purple Heart by being shot by a sniper. He recovered in time to join the Australian troops in the invasion of Borneo. He then spent two weeks on Bali, photographing the rounding-up of hold-out Japanese soldiers.

Finally, Dr. Simpkins covered his most memorable story: the signing of the Japanese surrender aboard the battleship Missouri. He then joined the first wave of troops to occupy Japan, and toured the country quite extensively.

Upon being discharged, Dr. Simpkins returned to school and completed his M. A. in sociology. He went on toward his Ph. D. and chose "Primitive magic and religions in the Philippine Islands," as his dissertation topic.

In Our Opinion

Recorder Given Polio Patient

A tape recorder was given to Bruce Pinover, the sophomore student who was afflicted with polio one week before vacation, as a Christmas gift from University friends. Greetings and get-well messages were taped and later played to Bruce when he was given the recorder.

The gift idea originated with the members of the radio station staff where Bruce has made many friends, and was carried out by Richard Flockencier and Charles Coddling of the special services department where Bruce was employed.

Fraternity brothers, the radio staff, members of special services, and friends have contributed to the fund for the recorder, but a deficit amounting to about $60 is being handled by Mr. Coddling and Mr. Flockencier.

Pinover, who is paralyzed from the waist down, was moved from Wood County Hospital to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, N.Y., Saturday, Dec. 18.

Students who would like to contribute to the fund may give their donations to Janet Spoerl, secretary in the journalism department, 315 Administration Bldg., from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m. any day next week.

Where Do We Go From Here?

The results of the poll concerning student opinion of the Alma Mater song, although somewhat delayed and highly statistical, strongly indicates that the general student body is dissatisfied with the song.

The poll which appears on this page, was taken according to the class rank of each student approached at random points on the campus. It should, therefore, accurately portray the opinion of the entire student body.

Paulin Reassigned To Far East Area

M/Sgt. Jimmie E. Paulin, member of the ROTC department staff for the past two and a half years, was reassigned to the far eastern command Jan. 5.

Last year he was head resident of the Stadium Club, assistant coach of the ROTC rifle team, and assistant instructor of the freshman cadets.

Sgt. Paulin received his definite location and assignment at Ft. Louis, Wash.

A veteran of 12 years in the Army, Sgt. Paulin served with the 7th Army in Europe during World War II and was stationed at Ft. Churchill, Canada, before assignment to Bowling Green.

Student Poll Reveals Dislike Of Alma Mater

Results of a poll conducted by two B-G News reporters indicate that the students do not like our present Alma Mater song. Of those polled, 80.2 per cent "no" to the question, "Do you like the Bowling Green State University Alma Mater?"

This result prevailed in the answers of students of all classes, although to varying degrees. The poll was conducted by personal contact with the students at varying sites on campus and during different times of day. Approximately equal numbers of men and women students from each of the four classes were contacted.

The senior class showed the largest percentage dissatisfied with the Alma Mater. The sophomore class expressed the second highest percentage of dislike with the junior and freshman classes following in that order. The results showing the per cent of expressed dislikes for the Alma Mater from each class section are: senior class, 93 per cent; sophomore class, 90 per cent; junior class, 77 per cent; and freshman class, 62 per cent.

The majority of those expressing dislike for the school song stated that their main objection was with the words. The remainder of those dissatisfied were almost evenly split between objection to the music and objection to both words and music. Of those polled, only 1.4 per cent expressed no opinion, these stating that they did not know the song.

McKenzie Views UN Plans At Annual Collegiate Meet

By FRAN McLEAN

The Collegiate Council for the United Nations, a national student organization, attempts to communicate to as many students as possible the workings of the United Nations.

The big event of this new organization is its annual national Intercollegiate Leadership Institute held in New York City during the summer. Last summer, Bowling Green was represented by Marlene McKenzie, sophomore in the College of Education.

While at the week-long conference Miss McKenzie was on the social committee of the CCUN. This committee studies racial and religious relations of different countries.

Miss McKenzie was also able to hear and speak to such internationally-known personalities as Ralph Bunche, director of the Department of Trusteeship; Prof. Ahmed S. Bokhari, permanent representative to the UN from Pakistan; and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the Board of Governors of the American Association for the UN.

When asked what the CCUN can do for us, Miss McKenzie said; "The CCUN is an organization which seeks to interest and educate college students in the United Nations and its work." She stated it does this in a number of different ways. To the 330 member groups on college and university campuses the CCUN offers conferences on the local, state, and regional levels; monthly program kits which give ideas and suggestions for discussion material in local meetings, different publications about local and national activities, and the annual summer Institute.

Collegiate Council for the United Nations is sponsored on this campus by the local UCF group. To carry on the work of the CCUN, the international affairs sub-committee of the UCF sponsors a coffee hour every other Tuesday. Topic of discussion at these meetings is on international and national problems.

At the Leadership Institute the representatives study the activities and functions of the United Nations and hear speakers from the UN delegation. After discussion of the issues facing the UN the CCUN draws up resolutions on United States policy as it applies to these issues. Among the resolutions presented at last summer's meeting were: one urging that the UN take a definite stand to assure the unification of Korea; one for the rehabilitation of Arab refugees; and one urging the General Assembly to write a state treaty for Austria. When resolutions as these are officially adopted as CCUN policy, they are communicated to the UN through the US representative in order to voice the opinion of the youth of the United States in the United Nations.

The UCF again will sponsor a Bowling Green student next year to attend the convention.

Reserved Seats For Seniors Vetoed By Kansas Council

By PATRICIA GUTHMAN

The Student Council squelched an attempt by the seniors at Kansas State College to obtain reserved seats at basketball games.

The seniors wanted the center section of the field house turned over to them. They said that underclassmen would be admitted 15 minutes before game time to fill in any empty seats.

Council members voted the motion down, commenting that the senior class had done nothing to deserve such a privilege.

Rogers Hits 41 Points; Falcons Win 86-83

By CORKY LIBEY

Captain Bili Rogers smashed the Western Reserve zone defense for 41 points as Bowling Green defeated the Red Cats 86-83 at Western Reserve Tuesday night. It was BG's second Mid-American Conference win and third victory of the season.

The Falcons' defense, employed to stop the Red Cats' scoring ace, center Dick Howard, did an excellent job as Howard was held to nine points in the first half. However, Bob Coy and Jon McGruder almost upset the strategy as Reserve grabbed a seven-point lead at halftime.

Rogers Tallies 14 in Final 10 Minutes

Western Reserve held a 76-74 lead when Rogers went to work, scoring 14 points in the last 10 minutes, mostly on jump shots from the right of the key. A Rogers basket tied the game at 80-all, and another put the Falcons ahead, 82-80, for a lead they never lost.

BILL ROGERS

Rogers hit on 17 of 28 field shots for 60 per cent, and 7 of 10 free throws for 70 per cent. Bowling Green hit for 44 per cent from the field and 74 per cent from the free line, with 20 out of 27.

Rogers' 41 points was one short of the Bowling Green record of 42 set by Al Bianchi last season against Western Michigan. It was a new personal record for Rogers, however, breaking his previous high of 35 points while playing at Ashland High against Washington Court House.

Spirit Club Sponsors Trip To Toledo Game

The Spirit Committee is sponsoring a bus trip to the University of Toledo basketball game Jan. 12, according to Bennett Litherland.

Tickets may be purchased for $1.25, in the Well until 4 p.m. today. The busses will leave from the front of the Men's Gym at 6 p.m. Wednesday night.

All students who are interested in giving the team a big send-off should meet in front of the gym at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Falcons Hit Stride, Meet Miami Five In Fourth MAC Tilt

Seeking their third win in Mid-American Conference competition and their fourth win of the season, the Falcons will make the long trip south to Oxford to engage Miami U's tough Redskins tomorrow night.

Miami has four conference victories at this writing and can add one more if they beat Marshall College this week. Their four wins are tops in the conference and are an indication of how tough they are in the MAC.

Since the last game Miami has lost two and won one (not counting the Marshall game). They were routed by Illinois 97-72 and were also beaten by Western Michigan, the MAC leader, for their only Conference defeat. Their lone win since the last BG encounter came on a 72-70 thriller over Toledo on a shot in the closing moments of the game.

Seven Lettermen On Squad
Miami has deep reserve strength and every man is a potential high scorer. They have seven lettermen out of the twelve-man squad. Tom Bryant had 23 points against Toledo, Ron Ellis had 21 against Illinois and 26 against BG. Bill Kennon had 20 against Illinois and Darrell Hedric had 12 against the Illini. Don Barnette was the man who tossed in the winning basket against Toledo U. If Dick Klitch has recovered from his early season illness and can return to the form he has displayed in previous seasons Miami U. will certainly be a tough team for the rest of the year.

Tucker Second In MAC Scoring
MAC statistics show Bowling Green's Jim Tucker second in the MAC scoring averages with 23.5 per game and Bill Rogers is twelfth with 14.5.

Falcon Tankers Open Sked At Miami Saturday

A pool record was set by the Bowling Green women's relay team at the Miami pool during the Dec. 11 swimming meet. Swimming against Miami and Ohio Universities, the team, composed of Mary Gerber, Shirley Browning, Sally McClements, and Sue Mignery was timed at 54.5 seconds, trimming 1.4 seconds from Miami's previous record. This was .4 second over Bowling Green's own record.

The entire Bowling Green entry came in second with Miami leading the scoring with 85 points. Following B.G.'s 75-point score was Ohio U. with 27 points.

Hamilton And Gerbing Lead Falcon Mermen During 1955 Season

Fred B. Gerbing, a senior in the college of Business Administration, has been elected co-captain of the varsity swimming team for the 1954-55 season. Dave Hamilton is the other co-captain.

Gerbing attended Denby High School in Detroit, where he won all-city swimming recognition his junior and senior years. He was also elected captain of the Denby team his senior year.

Upon graduation from high school, Gerbing wished to attend a college noted for swimming, and after talking with coach Sam Cooper, he decided on Bowling Green.

Last year Gerbing was chosen the team's most valuable swimmer by the Varsity Club.

Gerbing will be graduated this January, and will work as a public accountant before entering the Air Force in May.

Dakich's Ballhandling Bolsters Falcons

Idaho State's loss, in the person of Tom Dakich, is Bowling Green's gain. Dakich is a valuable addition to the Falcon basketball squad, who transferred after two years at Idaho.

He entered Idaho State to follow in the footsteps of his brother Roy, who was playing on the varsity team. Tom made the varsity squad which competed in the NCAA tournament both seasons.

Tom is from Gary, Ind. He received three letters in basketball at Horace Mann High School and captained the squad his senior year.

He was selected on the All-City and All-Northern Indiana Conference team his junior and senior years. Don Elser, former Notre Dame All-American was his basketball coach.

He has an excellent two-handed set from the outside and is a fine ballhandler. As a result of his previous tournament play, he has experience which may assist the youthful Falcon team during the remainder of the season.

Tom is jokingly called "Bones" by his teammates. He is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity. The 5' 11" junior is majoring in Business Administration.

Where should I take those shirts? People tell me that College Laundromat has good service. Shirts are beautifully laundered in only a few days . . . and are those people careful. They even relauder shirts if buttons are missing. Not very many laundries do that any more.

College Laundromat is kind to your pocket book . . . and convenient too. The fast service is economically priced. And both laundry and dry cleaning are handled under one roof. That settles it. I'll call Jack Curley at 7350 and ask him for free pick-up and delivery service for those shirts . . . and my laundry and dry cleaning too.

Two Experiment With Night Habits Of Rats

"During what hours of the night do rats learn fastest?" is what two students of the experimental psychology 307 class are trying to prove.

Joyce Ludecker and Arthur Greenfield started their experiment Nov. 29, in the psychology experimental laboratory.

The students have two rooms set up in the Psychology Bldg. In one the conditions are normal. The other is in total darkness, except for one light that is left on during nighttime hours. The researchers are trying to trick the rats into thinking it is nighttime when it isn't. In the dark room they have a maze set up. The rats are put into this maze every eight hours, at 10 p.m., 4 a.m., 10 a.m., and 4 p.m.

This experiment is a carryover from research performed by two members of last year's experimental psychology 307 class. They proved that rats are nocturnal animals. That is, they show more activity at night than in the day time.

Miss Ludecker is a senior majoring in psychology, and Mr. Greenfield is a graduate assistant in the psychology department.

This was the first group of the experimental psychology 307 class to start its experiment. Members of the class spend the first half of the semester preparing for the experiments they perform the second part. All the supplies needed for the research are provided by the psychology department. The students pick semi-original experiments.

CLOTHES MAKE THE BMOG

A few weeks ago I discussed fashions for coeds. I pointed out then that any girl who really wanted to go places on campus had to be bold and ingenious when it came to clothes. This is no less true for the male student.

Believe me, men, you'll never get anywhere if you keep skulking around in those old plus-fours. What you need is some dash, some verve, some inventiveness in your apparel. Don't be imprisoned by the traditional conservatism of men's clothing. Brighten up your appearance with a single earring, or a cavalry sabre, or a gold derby.

However, guard against gaudiness. If, for instance, you are wearing a gold derby, do not also wear a cavalry sabre. This is too much. Wear a dagger instead, or, for informal occasions, a Bowie knife.

(Speaking of Bowie knives, I wonder how many of you know what a great debt this country—indeed, the whole world—owes to the West Point class of 1836? You all know, of course, that Colonel James Bowie of the Class of 1836 invented the Bowie knife, but do you know of the many other important contributions to cutlery that were made by classmates of Colonel Bowie's? Are you aware, for example, that Colonel Harry Clasp invented the Clasp knife? Or that Colonel Harry Jack invented the Jack knife? Or that Colonel Harry Putty invented the Putty knife? Or that Colonel Harry Cannon invented the towel?

By a curious coincidence, every member of the graduating class at the U. S. Military Academy in 1836 was named Harry, save for Colonel James Bowie. This coincidence is believed unique in the history of American education, though, of course, quite common in Europe.)

But I digress. We were talking about men's campus fashions. Let us turn now to a persistent rumor that a garment called the "suit" is on the verge of making a comeback. Some of you older students may remember the "suit." It was an ensemble consisting of a jacket and trousers, both of which—this'll kill you—both of which were made out of the same material!

The last "suit" ever seen on an American campus was in 1941—and I ought to know, because I was wearing it. Ah, 1941! Well do I remember that melancholy year. I was an undergraduate then and in love—hopelessly in love, caught in the riptide of a reckless romance with a beautiful statistics major named Harry Sigafos. (She is one of the two girls I have ever known named Harry. The other one is her sister.)

I loved Harry though she was far too expensive a girl for me. She liked to eat at fancy restaurants and dance at costly ballrooms and ride in high priced cars. But worst of all, she was mad for wishing wells. It was not unusual for her to drop coins into a wishing well for two or three hours on end. My coins.

Bit by bit I sold off my belongings to pursue this insane courtship—first my books, then my clothes, until finally I was left with nothing to wear but a "suit." One night I came calling for her in this garment.

"What is that?" she gasped, her lip curling in horror. "That is a 'suit'!" I mumbled, averting my eyes. "Well, I can't be seen around campus with you in that," said she. "Please, Harry," I begged. "It's all I've got."

"I'm sorry," she said firmly and slammed the door. I slunk home and lit a Philip Morris and sat down to think. I always light a Philip Morris when I sit down to think, for their mild vintage tobacco is a great aid to cerebration. I always light Philip Morris when I don't sit down to think too, because Philip Morris is my favorite cigarette, and I know it will be yours too once you try that crazy vintage tobacco.

Well sir, smoking and thinking thus, my eye happened to fall on an ad in the campus newspaper. "WIN A COMPLETE WARDROBE" said the ad. "Touhy's Toggery, the campus's leading men's store, announces a contest to pick the best dressed man on campus. The winner of the contest will receive, absolutely free, a blue hound's tooth jacket, a yellow button-down shirt, a black knit tie, a tattersall vest, gray flannel trousers, argyle socks, and white buck shoes with two inch crepe soles."

My mouth watered at the thought of such a splendid wardrobe, but how could anybody possibly pick me as the best dressed man on campus—me in my "suit"? Suddenly an inspiration struck me. I seized pen in hand and wrote a letter to the editor of the campus newspaper:

"Dear Sir, I see by the paper that Touhy's Toggery is going to give a complete wardrobe to the student picked as the best dressed man on campus. What a ridiculous idea!

"Obviously, to be the best dressed man on campus, you must first have a lot of clothes. And if you have a lot of clothes, what do you need with another wardrobe?

"Touhy's Toggery should give a new wardrobe to the worst dressed man on campus. Me, for instance. I am an eyesore. There isn't a crow in town that will come near me. Three times this month the Salvation Army salvage truck has picked me up. Esquire has cancelled my subscription.

"I submit that a vote for me is a vote for reason, a vote for equity, in short, a vote for the American way."

With a flourish, I signed the letter and sent it off, somehow feeling certain that very soon I would be wearing a complete new wardrobe. And I was right—because two weeks later I was drafted.
